
SAPERE AUDE

2020 ISSUE

THE UNDERGRADUATE PHILOSOPHY JOURNAL OF
THE COLLEGE OF WOOSTER

Managing Editors

Alex Fiander

Micah Phillips-Gary

Webmaster

Micah Phillips-Gary

Associate Editors

Ensleigh Hollon

Kien Le

Kaylee Liu

In his essay "What is Enlightenment?", Immanuel Kant states that the motto of the Enlightenment is "Sapere aude!" [Dare to know!]. This phrase expresses our mission at Sapere Aude, the undergraduate philosophy journal of the College of Wooster. We invite undergraduate students to submit papers concerning any area of philosophy for publication in our journal, the goal being the general pursuit of knowledge. All submissions go through a blind peer review process, conducted by College of Wooster students to ensure the highest levels of quality.

SAPERE AUDE

dare to know

Contents

Interview with Dr. José Medina, Northwestern University	1
KAYLEE LIU AND MICAH PHILLIPS-GARY
The Strangeness of Knowledge-based Injustices against Children	14
SWAGATANJALI BAURI
Resolving Complications of a Kantian Conception of Human Rights	27
SHANE COUGHLIN	